EXPERIENCE

Branding, video direction & editing, package design, and event coordination

Produced by Left Digital Media, the music video "Come Over After" as performed by Dagnese and the documentary short "Unconditional" were two film works that I directed and edited as well as designed all packaging and marketing materials for. "Come Over After" has won 13 awards, four of which for "Best Music Video" of 2010 and "Unconditional" is currently in its submission status.

Video direction, editing and event coordination

Produced by Darren Kramer of Ever Reviled Records, I directed and edited a short film titled "The Cocaine Song" starring Marilyn Mansfield and Darren Deicide. The seven minute short film features green screen technology, sound editing and storytelling between a sublime urban life and that of some sexy, devilish nurses. The video premiere that I coordinated in June of 2011 is currently being submitted into festivals.

Music video direction, editing & producing, web site and package design

Produced, directed and edited a music video for singer/songwriter Elizabeth June called "Freedom," of which went on to win 9 awards and official selections. The combined elements of video, photography and branding were also used in several other applications including web and DVD package design.

Branding & logo creation

Branding of newly developed tree service with a two-color logo that implemented the clients needs of originality with a modern feel that would be used for promotional materials.
